PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Fellow Firefighters

It is time again for the newsletter; we are trying to do whatever we can to stop the phone campaign, by doing a BIG ELECTRONIC RAFFLE. Hope everyone has a chance to help us by buying a ticket. We are doing our share to reduce the expenses. We have meetings in the midmorning so this saves on having to get overnight room accommodations. We have also planned the convention to be only Friday and Saturday night.

We are still looking for someone for the Lifetime Achievement Award. The recipient will be awarded at the Convention. Names should be submitted before August 10, 2011. For more information, please visit our website at <http://msfff.org/>.

This year was a hard year in the legislation. We worked to oppose L.D.123 and for the Building Code and any bills that involved the firefighters and the public safety of the people of the State of Maine. If only all the fire organizations could work together we could probably make a big difference in the way things would happen in the State.

We are involved with NVFC. They are at the same place we are, but at the Federal level we are working for the betterment of the fire service in the State of Maine and for the Nation.

The convention is in Waterville on September 9th, 10th and 11th, 2011. Let's help support the City of Waterville and the fire department. Make sure to register early. You will not be disappointed. You can ask any of the MSFFF Officers for information or you can visit our website <http://msfff.org/> and click on the link. See you at the convention.

Richard A. Cyr
President, MSFFF

FROM THE RUINS, A CHANCE TO REMEMBER

As part of an impressive convoy, remnants of the World Trade Center - a pair of steel beams - arrive in Freeport for a long-planned Sept. 11 memorial

By Emma Bouthillette ebouthillette@mainetoday.com Staff Writer

FREEPORT – Hundreds gathered Saturday to watch as two 10-foot steel beams rolled down Main Street on a military flatbed truck.

These weren't just any beams, but part of the support structure for New York City's World Trade Center, the twin towers that were destroyed in the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001.

Sue Millman of Portland, Ore., a retired Army Reserve nurse, spends a moment in quiet meditation with one of the World Trade Center beams transported from New York City to Freeport on Saturday for use in a Sept. 11 memorial. Photos by Derek Davis/Staff Photographer

The journey the beams took from New York City to Maine is the culmination of a three-year effort by the Masons of Freeport. The plan is to use the steel as part of a permanent memorial at the corner of Main and West streets.

"I lost a lot of friends that day," guest speaker Lt. Mickey Kross, a retired member of the New York Fire Department who was a first responder on Sept. 11, told the crowd that gathered in town.

"So the fact you're doing this memorial, it's very special to me," he said.

Kross' story as one of the survivors of the collapse of the North Tower is featured in a recent documentary,

"9/11: The Miracle of Stairway B."

John Skillin, a member of the Masons of Freeport, said he was excited to see the crowd Saturday. And while he's energized by the arrival of the beams, he said there is much more work to be done.

The Masons still need to secure final approval from the town, which Skillin expects to happen in June. Then, the memorial itself needs to be fabricated.

The memorial will resemble the Twin Towers, similar to the mock design that already stands on the city-owned property near the police and fire station. Organizers expect it to be completed in time for a dedication ceremony Sept. 11, the 10th anniversary of the attacks on the World Trade Center.

Joyce Veilleux, a member of the Freeport 9/11 Committee, said the dedication ceremony will tie in with events planned to commemorate the anniversary. She said she thinks the memorial will become a destination.

"A lot of New Englanders can't make it down to ground zero, either for physical or emotional reasons," she said. "Instead they'll be able to come here and touch a piece of it."

The steel beams made stops through southern Maine on their way to the midcoast. Draped in an American flag, they were escorted by state and local police, Maine's Patriot Guard and more than 200 motorcyclists.

When the convoy rolled into Freeport, Kali and Sean Hagerty saluted.

Kali Hagerty, a former member of the Coast Guard and an officer with the Portland Police Department, and Sean Hagerty, an active member of the Coast Guard, said they came to

Great Wass Island

Lightning ignites, destroys seasonal home

BY SHARON KILEY MACK, BDN STAFF

— A lightning strike early Thursday morning destroyed a large seasonal home owned by the Pellegrini family of Holden.

The fire was reported at about 5 a.m. when a local lobsterman spotted the blaze from the sea while he was pulling his traps. The home was owned by Dr. Joan Pellegrini, a trauma surgeon from Holden. She said Thursday that about 14 people, including relatives from Alaska, had been on the island during the day Wednesday for a family graduation ceremony and lobster feed. Everyone left in the evening.

Pellegrini, who returned to the scene Thursday morning, said lightning struck a large tree at the front of the seaside home on Carver Industry Road during a raging thunderstorm early Thursday. Its force not only exploded the tree, but also dug a trench through the soil into the home. Pellegrini said the home, built in 2006, is a total loss and the family is insured.

"The only thing that survived was the captain's bell on the deck," she said. Pellegrini said she is also a stained-glass artist and was particularly saddened by the loss of a window depicting blue herons that was constructed of more than 500 separate pieces of glass. Dozens of her other artworks were also lost.

Six departments responded because of fears the fire would spread up-island due to high winds. Jonesport, Beals, Jonesboro, Addison, Columbia and Columbia Falls fire departments came, as well as Moosabec Ambulance. No one was at home and no one was injured.

Pellegrini said the home held many fond memories. "We will definitely rebuild," she said. She said she is a bit shellshocked after viewing the destruction Thursday morning, but wanted to praise the local firefighters and people of Beals and Great Wass islands.

"They were amazing. Imagine all those firefighters scrambling out of bed at 5:30 in the morning," she said. "People offered us rooms to stay in for the summer while we rebuild. Someone at the scene gave me their coat. Everyone has been incredibly caring and generous."

Dr. Joan Pelligrini of Holden said a lightning strike was responsible for a fire early Thursday morning that destroyed her seasonal home on Great Wass Island. Pelligrini said lightning struck a tree and dug a trench through the soil as it traveled to the home. "It's a total loss," she said, including many pieces of stained glass that she had created. "The only thing that survived was the captain's bell on the deck." Pelligrini was insured and said she will rebuild the home, which was built in 2006 overlooking the sea at Carver Industry Road.

Hancock County

7th Hancock County Fire Academy

The Hancock County Firefighter's Association 7th Hancock County Fire Academy graduating class will be recognized at graduation on May 29th at 6 p.m. at the Ellsworth High School, for their dedication and hard work. The graduating class has 21 students from 8 Hancock County towns, one from Washington County and seven from Penobscot County.

The students, instructors and the committee have been involved in this year's Academy every other weekend from the first of January to May 22. On June 14, the students will sit for their written FFI & II state test and on Saturday, June 19th, they will sit for their FFI & II practical test at the Ellsworth Training Center.

The students in this year's class are: Dedham-Lucerne VFD – Kevin Bonefas & James Johnston; Ellsworth Fire – Chad Davis; Hancock VFD – Bryton Nickerson, Justin Kane, Taylor Trombley; Isleford – Richard Howland; Southwest Harbor – Jennifer Martel; Sullivan – Luke Higgins & Ryan Daley; Trenton VFD – Aaron Graham; Tremont VFD – Heath Higgins & Keith Higgins; Hancock County Airport – Tyler Kennedy & Shawn McVay; Milbridge VFD – Ethan Hatt; Orrington Fire – Chad Bean & Graham Davis; Old Town Fire – Karen Landry; Bangor Fire – Chris Kulbe, Patrick Heathcote, Benjamin Morey, and Stan Grass.

During the 12 weekend program, the students received instruction from local and state career and volunteer firefighters in both a classroom as well as hand on instructions. In order to meet the skills objectives, the student were trained in property conservation, forcible entry, ventilation, self contained breathing apparatus and other firefighting skills, including safety and survival. The students took part in a class A burn in Ellsworth where they were able to utilize a donated house for ventilation, forcible entry and live burns. The students were in Franklin for their Class B burns where over 600 gals of propane was burned for invigorating experience.

Again, this year's students also were able to receive certification in first aid and CPR, Hazmat Operations and Wild land Fire Fighting – G130/190, all of which were above and beyond the Jones and Bartlett curriculum.

Lead instructor Kevin Bland led the main instructors: Daryl Clark, Gary Saunders, Richard Tupper, Dennis Nadeau, Jim Metcalf, Randy Lowe, Robert Dorr & Kevin Stradley.

The Hancock County Fire Academy has, in the last seven years, graduated over 170 students representing over 20 Hancock County towns and two island communities plus Washington and Penobscot Counties.

This program has been highly successful partly due to the dedication from the instructors and the support from the Hancock County Commissioners & Chiefs, fire department members and area businesses. Each town recognizes the importance of this academy as it enables the students to stay close to home and get some top notch training with fellow county members, all who could be calling for mutual aid help from the state's oldest county wide mutual aid agreement.

A great job by all students, instructors, county commissioners, fire chiefs and all those behind the scenes helping to make this academy the success it has become. THANK YOU ALL!!

Searsport

The Searsport fuel tank fire at the Irving Terminal on Mack point was caused by welding. The tank had been emptied of all fuel getting ready for maintenance and upgrade. The fire started on a rubber seal. The tank has a capacity of 175,000 barrels of heating oil. Eight people were working at the terminal when the call came in around 4 p.m. About 70 firefighters from Searsport, Prospect, Bucksport, Belfast, Morrill, Northport, Stockton Springs, as well as Waldo emergency crews responded. Jim Dittmeier, Searsport Fire Chief, called South Portland's Chief, Kevin Guimond, that a fire had broken out at one of the tanks at Irving. Dittmeier wanted to know if he could send the department's foam trailer, which is one of four in the State. Within minutes they were headed for Searsport. They used most of the foam that Seasmont had and was glad to get more. Guimond said it was a good learning experience.

This will be their first out truck which will replace a 1980 Chevrolet that was purchased from Caribou FD for $1500 many years ago. They have the 1980 Chevy for sale.

Trenton

The Trenton Volunteer Fire Department has received a new piece of lifesaving equipment thanks to a grant from a foundation dedicated to providing state-of-the-art thermal imaging cameras to fire departments around the nation.

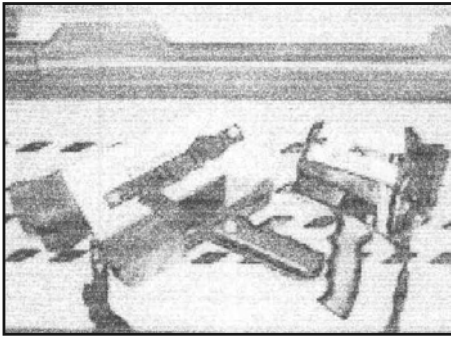

The Trenton Volunteer Fire Company received a gracious donation of a T320 Bullard thermal imaging camera from the 500 for Life Foundation and The McFarlines family. It is a contribution that was a pleasant surprise to TVFD members after having applied for the grant over two years ago. Captain Lisa Winger saw an article in Reader's Digest explaining about 500 For Life Foundation and their mission, asked then Chief Muise if she could submit the grant and he agreed. Two years later, current Chief Richard Gray received a call asking some questions and that is when he received the word that Trenton Fire Department was going to the recipient of a new state-of-the-art thermal imaging camera, the T320 Bullard TIC.

The members are grateful to the Foundation and was requested to put articles in the local papers and send a department patch back to the foundation.

Thank you to the 500 For Life Foundation and the generous donation from the McFarline family to make this possible.

Waldoboro

Waldoboro Fire Department has a new pumper Perice 2010 Contender 1250 pump 1000 gallon water with a 30 gallon foam tank.

Whiting

March 6, 2011

The Whiting fire department was called to a house fire on Route 1 in Whiting around 5:30 PM. When they arrived the two story house was all in flames. Ken Dwelley, owner of the home received burns when a propane stove flashed back. He was transported to Down East Community hospital. Fire Chief Craig Smith said he had fireman in the building but was forced to get them out due to exploding ammunition inside.

Also inside the home was propane and oxygen tanks that fire fighters had to be cautious of. Chief Smith said several cats were in the house and possibly perished in the fire. Dwelley had two 700 pound pigs next to his home that the fireman were able to save. The animals were taken to a farm in Dennysville to be cared for until Dwelley returns home.

Dwelley was later transferred to Maine Medical Center in Portland.

Winterport

Fire crews from Winterport responded to a report of a structure fire on the Keeler Road, which is just off Main street, on Saturday April 30. Upon arrival, heavy smoke was coming from a three story wood frame structure. Crews from Frankfort, Frankfort Village, Prospect, Hampden, and Stockton Springs all helped with the fire. The homeowner was taken to the hospital for burns to his hands and arms from trying to put the fire out. A kitchen grease fire is said to have been the cause.

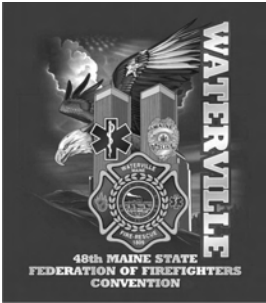

On May 5, a couple on vacation were traveling on IA in Winterport when they noticed what appeared to be fire inside the windows of the Calvary Apostolic Church. The couple called 911 and fire crews responded to find the church was on fire. Upon arrival, fire crews found a dead person outside one of the windows of the church. The victim was later identified as Wilbur Strout, 20 from Hancock. According to the Fire Marshal's Office, Strout dumped flammable liquid throughout the worship area and in front of the altar and then covered himself in the liquid. Strout's father was a former pastor of the church. It is unclear why Strout performed the actions that he did. Crews from all over Waldo county as well as Bucksport and Bangor's aerial trucks were called to assist in extinguishing the fire. The church is a total loss. Crews were on the scene from 10:30 a.m. to around 7:30 that night. The fire was hard to extinguish, the interior was fully involved and there was no chance of an interior attack. Chief Tom Doe said the roof collapsed not long after firefighters got on the scene. After that there was very little that could be done.

On March 27, 2011 at approximately 1:30 p.m. crews from Winterport Fire were dispatched to a structure fire at the Rancourt residence located at 1 Pine View Drive. There were several children in the residence at the time as well as 4 cats who all made it out safely. A babysitter was watching six kids who were of various ages at the time when a ten year old alerted the sitter to the fire. Mutual aid from Frankfort, Frankfort Village, & Monroe assisted with S.C.B.A personnel and water supply. The fire was extremely hard to knock down since it was walls and the ceilings. It took over two hours to get the fire knocked down. Electrical problems is believed to be a cause for the fire. Fire damage was contained to the second floor. The first floor did contain smoke and heavy water damage.

During the early morning hours of March 29, 2011, Winterport fire was dispatched to assist Frankfort fire with a working structure fire around 12:00 a.m. on Hall Lane in Frankfort. Upon arrival, heavy smoke and fire was coming from an attached barn. The fire spread into the breezeway and then eventually to the main house. A couple was supposedly home at the time but made it out safely. The fire took over 4 hours to knock down. There was no way to get at the fire where it was burning in the roof and ceilings. The only way to fight it was a defensive attack. Crews from Winterport, Frankfort, Frankfort Village, Prospect, Stockton Springs and Searsport assisted with mutual aid. No word yet on the cause of this fire.

Two people were taken to the hospital with non life threatening injuries from a motor vehicle crash on Route IA in Winterport on the evening of May 9. Shortly after 6 p.m., a Mustang being driven by a single male operator lost control and crossed into the path of a GMC Yukon, causing the Yukon to T-Bone the Mustang in the passenger side door. Both vehicles were totaled. The Yukon was being operated by a person visiting from out of state. A younger child was in the Yukon. but was unharmed. The child was taken by immediate family members who came to the scene. The mother was transported to the hospital. Traffic was down to one lane until the vehicles were removed.

48th Maine State Federation of Fire Fighters Convention

SPONSORED BY: THE CONSOLIDATED FIRE FIGHTERS OF WATERVILLE
7 College Avenue, Waterville, Maine 04901
(207) 314-2703 FAX (207) 872-1480

Lt. Scott A Holst
2011 Waterville Fire Fighters Convention and 9/11 Memorial Chairman

The Consolidated Fire Fighters of Waterville is extremely pleased to be the host of the 48th Annual Maine State Federation of Fire Fighters Convention on September 9-11, 2011. What better way for our community to pay tribute to the victims of 9/11 attacks, than to celebrate it with the men and women throughout the great State of Maine who dedicate themselves to the service of others? We take pride in the job we do for the citizens we serve, we also take pride in the departments we represent.

We have been working diligently to make this year's convention one of the most memorable. We will continue with tradition by having a large parade, having nearly 80 vendors for you to visit, and the annual banquet followed by a spectacular show.

To honor the men and women of the fire service, military, emergency medical service and law enforcement we have put together a special memorial service. Please make plans on joining us in having a respectable memorial service. The Dunlap Highland Pipe Band, guest speakers, Prayers and song will highlight this years Memorial Service.

Following the memorial service will be the traditional banquet and this years banquet we are pleased to bring in Chief Eddie Buchanan form Hanover, Virginia as our motivational guest speaker. Seating for 600 guest will be served by our local Restaurant and Caterer, Eric's. His crew will be preparing a very delicious and enjoyable meal.

We are pleased to announce Adam Ferrara of the FX series Rescue Me, will be attending this years Convention. Adam is not only an accomplished actor but a very successful comedian as well. Adam will perform a stand up routine for us following the Saturday evening banquet. Once the comedy act concludes we have secured an extremely well known central Maine band to provide live music well into the night. If you have never seen Fallen Angel perform you are in for treat. The band has a huge following and sells out at nearly every time they perform. For the "Master of Ceremonies" we like you to welcome Sarah Long from Channel 13 News. Sarah will also be one of our judges for the parade. Tickets for the banquet and entertainment are limited so secure yours early. I have had received questions on our prices for the Banquet and Entertainment and all I can say is, Waterville does not have a site for all activities to be under one roof and the two places that we are holding our events from, comes at a cost. The economy is no help to us and we have to pay a high price for these two locations. I hope you will all understand and not let it be a deterrent for a fun, enjoyable and memorable time.

All events being held that weekend will be held at the Alford Youth Center on North Street in Waterville and are opened to the public. Vendors will be open: Friday 10am-6pm, Saturday 8am-4pm, and Sunday 8am-2pm. Many events are planned for throughout the day at the Alford Youth center. One event, a Military Blackhawk rescue demonstration will be the feature event.

The Memorial Service, Banquet and the Evening Entertainment will be held at the Champions Fitness Club and the public is also invited to join in. Tickets for the Banquet and Entertainment show will be available in May. The Memorial Service is free and all those wishing to attend are encouraged to bring a flower to be placed on the emergency apparatus vehicles that will be display at the front entrance.

Our two websites: www.watervillefire.com and <http://2011watervilleconvention.homestead.com/2011watervilleconvention.html> will have periodic updates, and you will find forms that can be printed so you can help be a special part of this years convention if you choose to do so, please visit often. The 2011 Convention can also be found on Facebook.

If you or anyone you may know that would like to be a Vendor or Advertiser, please call me and I will work with whoever to see that they get a spot in our special convention. This goes for any Fire, Police, Ambulance service or a Civilian off the street. Our Convention is open to everyone!

BIDDEFORD PLANE CRASH

These photos are from a plane crash that happened on Sunday night, April 10, 2011. The call came in at 1805. I was the first fire officer on scene. The house was fully involved. The home owners were not home, as they were at a family member's house for supper. The only person killed was the pilot. Fire units from Biddeford, Saco, and Goodwina Mills responded to the scene with Arundel, Kennebunk and Scarborough providing coverage. Submitted by: Jim Howard, VP, York North.

FROM THE RUINS CONT'D

Freeport because they thought it was a welcome home ceremony for a military unit. When they learned about the beams and the planned memorial, they stayed to support the effort. "I think it's awesome," Sean Hagerly said.

He said he has followed the efforts of the Freeport Flag Ladies in the news. The women who have appeared on Main Street every Tuesday since the terrorist attacks to wave the Stars and Stripes were recognized during Saturday's ceremony for helping to bring the steel beams to Maine.

Among the guest speakers, U.S. Sen. Olympia Snowe, R-Maine, said the "mammoth beam" holds so much meaning, and the fact that Freeport was selected to receive the steel, was "indescribable."

"There are finite pieces of steel available," she said, far fewer than can meet similar requests by municipalities.
